Land Owners Will Vote on Soil District

At a meeting of land owners of Randall county and a part of Potter county, it was voted unanimously Friday night that an election will be held under the supervision of the State Soil Conservation committee on the problem of establishing a Soil Conservation District in this area.

It is proposed to establish a district of all of Randall county and the south part of Potter county.

None of the municipalities of Canyon or Amarillo are included in the district and therefore the residents of these towns cannot vote in the election when it is called.

S. J. Payne of Tulia and O. F. Austin, field supervisor for the State Committee, spoke at the meeting Friday night.

Marshall Rockwell, Jr., was named to have charge of the election which will be held.

In such an election held in Hartley county recently, the vote was unanimously in favor of establishing the district.

Mrs. Affa Baird Taken by Death

Mrs. Affa Baird, a Canyon resident for the past 33 years, died at her home here at 8 a. m. Friday morning. Mrs. Baird's husband died in 1948. The couple were early pioneers. They lived in Floyd county from 1896 until 1921 when they moved to Canyon.

Mrs. Baird was born May 18, 1878, and she would have been 76 years old if she had lived until Tuesday. She was a member of the First Christian Church.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs John McCarty, 1323 Van Buren Street, Amarillo; one son, Bill Baird, 4219 Monroe, Amarillo; two brothers, W. J. Porter of Rocky Ford, Colo., and Henry C. Porter, Denver, Colo.; two sisters, Mrs. Fred Duval, Pueblo, Colo., and Mrs. Janie Gilbert, La Junta, Colo.; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the First Christian Church, with Rev. Win Matsler, the pastor, officiating.

Pall bearers were T. M. Brock, T. S. Stevenson, Wayne Sanford, Bob Brotherton, J. E. Mickey, Walter Kirkpatrick. Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery.

Marie Cooper Will Return From Europe

Mrs. Marie Cooper is scheduled to return home this week from a visit in seven countries of Europe where she was with a party of leading hairdressers of this country. The group was in charge of Bernord Az Guro of New York. Mrs. Cooper was accompanied by her husband, Leo Cooper.

Two newspaper clippings were mailed to The News, one from England and the other from Germany, showing Mrs. Cooper as she demonstrated hairdressings as she would do for her customers in Canyon.

The group making the trip was "Struck with the similarity in fashion and design of hairdressing in all countries visited."

Freeze Does Damage To the Wheat Crop

"What about the wheat crop for 1954?" asked the inquisitive reporter.

No. 1 answer: "My crop is ruined by the freeze of last week."

No. 2 answer: "No one can tell to what extent the damage will be this year."

No. 3 answer: "It will take about four or five weeks before there will be any definite answer to this question."

No. 4 answer: "While there has been a great amount of damage to the early crop, the total damage will not be known until harvest time. There may be enough sucker crop to pay for the damage to the early crop."

No. 5 answer: "Yes, there was damage to the early crop. No one can deny this. But let's remember that winter wheat requires a large amount of cold weather, and we did not have cold weather this winter. Wheat planted to August was damaged by the late freeze this year. This was the result of wheat not being planted in October, which is the authorized time for planting wheat in this area. Farmers have planted early in order to make wheat pasture for their cattle. When cattle were selling at 40 cents per pound early wheat planting was desirable. But wheat and cattle do not go together when it comes to selling grain."

Weeds will grow rapidly following the good rains of the past week. It is likely that harvest will be prolonged at least four weeks in many places because of the sucker crop and the large amount of weeds which will grow in all fields. If the sucker crop develops into a profitable wheat yield it will be necessary for the farmers to cut their crop at least at a later date than usual, thereby creating quite a harvest problem. This was the same case as confronted wheat farmers in 1941 when there was an unusually wet summer, with correspondingly heavy wet crop and delayed harvest.

So far as now known, the wheat crop is a little uncertain and no one seems to know the answer as to what the crop will produce.

Wind Erosion Set at $36,900

Randall county is included as one of the Texas counties to receive Federal money for aid in wind erosion control.

This program will be administered through the same State and county committee set-up as the regular Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation programs.

The emergency wind control program funds can be used only on land subject to excessive wind erosion. Farmers who will need and use this assistance will file application for the Federal cost-sharing on the request blanks used in the regular program.

Practices on which payment can be made are: 1—Narrow strip cropping. This calls for alternating the summer fallow with strips of certain row crops. This can be used for protecting wheat seeded this fall on the summer fallow strips. 2—Contour listing or chiseling. 3—Seeding grain sorghums, sweet sorghums or sudan grass after July 10 for a cover to be left on through the winter.

Complete details and specifications on these practices will be available in the County A. S. C. office, third floor, court house.

My three years experience in the enforcement of our criminal laws should qualify me to serve the people of this district as District Attorney. If elected District Attorney I pledge a vigorous prosecution of every indictment returned by the Grand Juries of the district.

Mr. Howard is married to the former Ruby Dunwoody of Waco. They have two children, a son almost five years old, and a daughter almost a year old. The Howards are members of the West Amarillo Christian Church and maintain their home at 2813 Barbara Lane, in Amarillo.

Bond Issue Failed: No New Order Given

A special session of the Commissioners Court was held Monday morning at the Court House for the purpose of canvassing the returns of the election last week on the $750,000 right-of-way bond issue.

It was found that the returns were correct with 2113 voting for the bond issue and 1663 votes being cast against the bond issue. The bond issue failed by 403 votes of the two-thirds majority needed to carry the bond issue.

No petition was filed for a second election on the bond issue. Therefore no action was taken upon any further action by the Commissioners Court.

Twelve members of the Citizens League of South Amarillo were present and the Court was requested to take no action upon any petition for an election unless this group was present. The Court will meet in regular session next Monday. At the same time the State Highway Commission will hold its regular monthly meeting in Austin.

According to a telephone call Monday by The News to Marshall Formby at Plainview, he expressed regret that business houses on 36th Street in South Amarillo would be hurt by the expressway. The Commission does not wish to hurt any business man, but the traffic will be too heavy for the future development of Canyon and Amarillo. If the people do not wish to furnish a 300 foot right-of-way the State will not be able to build the expressway, according to Mr. Formby.

Referring to a booklet which was just distributed on the highway needs of the State, Mr. Formby stated that he did not say that the Commission was opposed to building further four-lane highways, but that the Commission did not feel that the four-lane structure was sufficient to handle traffic at the present time, and certainly would not be in the future between Canyon and Amarillo.

Formby cited counties in West Texas which had voted bond to buy 300 foot right-of-ways for expressways and was concerned that Randall county voters had rejected the bond issue.

The Board of Trustees of the Canyon Independent School District approved the increase of salary for all teachers for the coming year in the amount of $402. This was the bill approved by the recent session of the legislature, effective next year.

Showers Nearly Miss Canyon During the Past Weekend

Most sections of the Panhandle received more rain over the weekend. But Canyon heard the thunder and saw the lightning, but received very little moisture.

In spite of the heavy electrical storm Saturday night, only a trace of rain fell.

Sunday night there was .26 of an inch of moisture in the west part of Canyon, but .41 of an inch fell at the weather station on the college campus.

No moisture fell locally Monday night, while there was a very good rain in the north part of the county.

So far this month the rainfall in Canyon has measured 2.42 inches, bringing the total moisture to 5.01 inches for the year.

Surprises Accompany Election on Expressway Bond Issue

The Expressway Bond issue brought some amazing revelations.

First, was the fact that South Amarillo was not nearly so opposed to the Expressway as the leaders of the community had led people to believe. The people living in the two school districts voted 1269 for the Randall county bond issue, while the vote against the bond issue was only 983. This indicates that those who led the fight against the bonds are not the leaders of South Amarillo; or that the voters were not in sympathy with the fight to save business on 36th Street.

Second, the vote in Canyon against the bond issue was larger than was anticipated. As a matter of record, no one was sure how the election would turn out in Canyon, but it was pretty well admitted that while Canyon would go for the bonds, the issue could not be carried by the necessary two-thirds majority.

Third, the only country box which was carried for the bond issue was Hollywood, where many of the voters live right on or near the proposed Expressway. The balance of the country voting places expressed disapproval but the vote was not so heavy as contemplated, due to the rain Tuesday.

The total vote on the bond issue was 2113 for, to 1663 against.

According to telephone calls over the State Wednesday morning to members of the State Highway Commission, it was determined that another election will be held in the near future. An effort will be made in this election to break down the opposition to the bond issue. The State Highway Commission holds its monthly meeting in Austin May 24 and on the same date the Randall County Commissioners Court will meet in Canyon to review the situation and determine what course shall be followed.

The Commissioners Court has two ways open: Either raise valuations to get the money to pay off the bonds; or to call another election. The first suggestion is ruled out, since Randall county taxpayers would be assessed an undue burden of taxes, sending half of the increase to Austin for State purposes.

The suggestion is being made that a large number of Canyon voters who voted against the bond issue will support such a project if the State Highway Commission will allow an alternate route so as to avoid wrecking all business houses on 36th Street in South Amarillo.

With the rain falling throughout Tuesday, a large number of people were unable to reach the polls and express their opinion on the project. If another election is held in the near future, we have been advised two ways: That the bond issue will carry by a two-thirds majority; and that the bond issue will be defeated unless an alternate route is proposed.

Who knows? We sure do not know the answer.

Confidence in Our Government Shaken by McCarthy-Army Row

(Editor's Note: The following editorial is lifted from the University of Texas student publication, The Daily Texan. The young writer who wrote this article certainly got hold of his subject. It is an example of the clarity of thinking of the younger generation, and is food for thought. You don't have to agree with the writer in order for him to stir up your thought processes.)

The opening day of television hearings on the Army-McCarthy squabble put a dramatic light on a thesis developed by Adlai Stevenson in the April issue of Harper's. "A great many Americans," said Stevenson, "are concerned today about the injury to private reputations which may result from reckless and unwarranted assaults by men in government positions." These assaults have served, he said, to injure badly the reputation of government itself in the eyes of those who make it work.

Certainly nobody can deny that government has taken a beating during the last two Presidential administrations—because of inefficiency, corruption and possible subversion in the Truman era, because of irresponsibility and more possible subversion now, and because of "reckless and unwarranted assaults" during both.

There was once a time when government was a respected profession, to which capable people aspired. The American people as a rule have had confidence in the integrity, if not the policies, of its government. But since the advent of McCarthy and rule by character assassination and counter-accusation a change has come. People suspect their elected officials; many capable persons who would make good administrators are afraid to risk their reputations by entering government service or politics. Yet, as Stevenson said, "the survival of our freedoms, individual and collective, is closely linked to the good name . . . of our government."

This is not to say there should be no televised investigations; investigations are still as important as they ever were. But it is saying that we should regain our sanity and try to refocus our emphasis on good government rather than the irresponsible fulminations of demagogues, highly placed though they may be.

Only Twice So Far This Year Wheat Crop Has Been Lost

An experienced wheat grower said the other day that this was the second time that the wheat crop had been killed. It takes at least a half dozen killings before the crop is finally safe, according to his statement.

The drouth got about two-thirds of the crop; and the freeze got most of the balance, according to this wheat grower. Yet Randall county will produce about a third crop, according to this farmer.

Another wheat grower said that he never counted on a wheat crop until the wheat was harvested and the money in his pocket.

The rains have been exceedingly fine and the crop has made an excellent recovery from the long, hard drouth. For this reason, Wheat Grower No. 1 says that no one can yet tell just how badly the crop was hurt by the freeze.

At least the hail adjusters have not given up hope that the crop will snap out of it, and will make a splendid recovery.

The rest of us are simply hopeful.

Every town and city has some citizens who are ready to cash in on any community undertaking.

Marriage Vows Lead to Woes When Couple Fail Co-operation

It is to be noted that divorce courts are busy granting divorces to misfit persons who have assumed obligations: "So long as you shall live."

One authority says that drink has been at the bottom of most divorces.

Another says that money, or the lack of money, wrecks most homes.

Another claims that the influence of divorce among the movie stars has led to many divorces among lesser lights.

In conversation with a noted preacher who has performed many marriages only to see so many of them go on the rocks, he made this observation:

"Too many young persons enter marriage with no thought of the necessity of a give-and-take-life. Those who want their own way about everything will soon find that their marriage is a failure. The influence of fast living, drink, money, and divorces among the movie stars is not to be compared with this spirit of fair play and moderation in thought, deed and action on the part of both parties to the marriage contract. After all, marriage is a partnership; and the young man or young woman who enters the partnership without the feeling of obligation that the contract must be made a success is bound to failure. One partner cannot be untrue or unfair to the other partner and hope that their mutual bonds shall be binding."

Perhaps he is more right than wrong.

Turning the Oldsters Out to Grass Is Mistaken Idea

Wes Izzard complains of the rule of the Amarillo school board in requiring that teachers be let out of the system at 65 years of age.

His observation is: "Some teachers should be retired at 50. Others should have never been hired in the first place."

The schools are not the only victims of inefficiency at any means. Every business organization finds duds among its employes—persons whom are not entitled to the pay which they receive.

So don't jump on the schools.

Schools have their problems, sure enough, but so do business men and farmers.

A man nearing his Ph.D. on the faculty of West Texas State will stop teaching this fall in order to start a new profession. He believes that he will soon make up the difference in salary from the amount he would receive as a teacher and the amount he hopes to receive from a new profession. There is something radically wrong when such is the case.

There is something radically wrong with the teaching profession which pays such a low salary that young men are induced to leave the profession and take a four or five year's course in some other profession just to make more money.

Congratulation Upon New Building of Tulia Herald

Congratulations to The Tulia Herald upon its new building, which is under construction.

H. M. Baggarly is publisher of The Herald which has developed into one of the largest weekly newspapers in the Panhandle. Mr. Baggarly took over the publication when it was in poor condition and under inefficient management. He has pulled the paper out of the kinks, and has been publishing a paper of which any community could be proud. Congratulations!

Difference of Two Opinions

A British boy moved next door, and his American neighbor, Tommy, was arguing with him about the relative merits of England and the United States.

"The King touched my grandfather on the head with a sword and make him a duke," said the British boy.

"That's nothing," bragged Tommy. "An Indian touched my great-grandfather on the head with a tomahawk and made him an angel."

General Lindbergh Gives the Nation Advice on Airplanes

"The character of man still forms the essential core of a lasting civilization." With that phrase Charles A. Lindbergh closed a striking address, delivered at The Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences Honors Night Dinner, after he had been given a Daniel Guggenheim medal for his achievements in aviation.

The theme of his talk is found in another phrase —"We have measured success by our products rather than by ourselves." In other words, he dealt with the materialism of the times, and the unprecedented tensions, conflicts, worries and uncertainties that have become a world-wide plague.

Near the beginning General Lindbergh described the hopes that were held when flying was young. It was believed that the airplane would be a major instrument in bringing the peoples of the world closer together—closer not only in terms of time and space but in terms of understanding. Nothing could have been more tragically wrong. As he said, "We are confronted with the stark fact that the historical significance of aircraft has been primarily military and destructive. With hindsight, we see that our early enthusiasm over the discoveries of science and the conquest of the air blinded us to natural laws which govern the conduct of men. All our scientific progress has not changed the fact that God made life on earth prolific, competitive, selective. From wood-wheeled cart to turbine airplane, men have always used their inventions to advance their beliefs, trade and sovereignty—alternating their support, according to their purpose, between forces which unite and forces which divide."

All of us know the present-day fruits of that truth. Its most evident manifestation is the world's war machines, with their incredible demands upon human and material resources. As General Lindbergh put it, "In a competitive world, life and freedom must be backed by strength."

Then he came to his primary point, which he put in these words. "But survival has a time dimension which says that power consists of more than strength of arms. Short-term survival may depend on the knowledge of nuclear physicists and the performance of supersonic aircraft, but long-term survival depends alone on the character of man. While we concentrate our attention on the tools of economics and war, we must not neglect the basic means of surviving, the basic reason for survival, man himself."

New Type of Disease Among Texas Citizens

AUSTIN: Increasing numbers of cases of a disease called "infectious hepatitis" are being observed in Texas, state health officials say.

Over 800 cases of the debilitating illness have been reported by private physicians so far this year. That's substantial increase over the number reported for the same time period last year, says Health Department Epidemiologist Dr. Gordon Grace.

Most medical authorities believe the disease is spread by person to person contact through nose and throat discharges, Dr. Grace pointed out. But he said a number of cases have been traced to contaminated food and water.

Infectious hepatitis literally means "infectious inflammation of the liver." It is a virus infection which occurs sporadically all year long, but which subsides somewhat during summer months.

Grace said there are no experimental animals on which tests can be conducted, and the virus cannot be "cultured" or grown in a laboratory. Older people, he said, are apparently immune. Sub-clinical cases—people who have the virus but are not sick—are not uncommon.

The disease is characterized by a flu-like onset, accompanied by a low-grade fever of 99-101 degrees for two or three days. The liver area is tender, and the patient has little appetite.

Later, the skin turns yellow, fever returns, and the liver area is sore and tender. Walking increases pain because the inflammed liver is thus aggravated.

Gamma globulin in the proper dosage gives a temporary immunity, Grace said. The blood fraction is made available through the State Department of Health to private physicians who administer it to family contacts of patients and to institutional cases.

An outbreak in a community usually lasts two or three months, Dr. Grace commented.

He said the best individual and weakening condition is scrupulous community defense against the personal hygiene and good environmental sanitation.

A DELIBERATE THIEF

Omaha, Neb. — A gunman entered the home of Anton Jenson, 60, a bus driver, who had just gone upstairs to take a nap. The next thing Jenson knew, a pillow was shoved over his face and he was tied to the bed. The man emptied Jenson's billfold of $45 to $60 in cash, then went downstairs, fried a couple of eggs in the kitchen, and later washed and shaved with Jenson's razor. About four hours later, the man announced he was leaving and said he would stop by a local tavern and have someone rescue Jenson, which he did.

MAN THROWN 40 FEET

Montgomery, Ala. — Ray Jordan, a termite exterminator, was fired through a coal chute like a human cannon ball, when a boiler exploded. Fire officials believe the blast was caused by an anti-termite solution coming in contact with a pilot light. Flames broke out and destroyed the residence. Jordan, taken to a hospital with burns, was expected to recover.

HE ASKED FOR IT

One night a "sob speaker," with tears streaming down his cheeks and his face distorted with anguish, was telling an audience how his little Sarah Ann went home to the angels with her doggie clasped tightly in her arms.

"Oh, Lord," he sobbed, arms raised to heaven in agonizing supplication. "Oh, Lord, why couldn't you have taken me instead?"

From the rear of the hall came an eager cry, "It ain't too late, Lord; do it now!"

SO HE'LL TRY AGAIN

A blond flapper called at the hospital the day after the accident.

"I want to see the young man who was injured in the auto wreck last night."

"Are you the girl who was with him?" asked the nurse.

"Yes," was the reply, "and I thought it was only right to come and give him the kiss he was trying for."

THE FINAL TEST

"I thought you said this bathing suit was in fast colors," said the customer, indignantly. "Why, every confounded stripe in it has come off on my back."

"Ah but wait," said the shopman, suavely, "wait until you try to get them off your back — then you'll see."

WHAT?

"Robert," chided mother, "why are you always wishing for things you haven't got?"

"Why, mother," retorted the thoughtful lad, "what else can I wish for?"

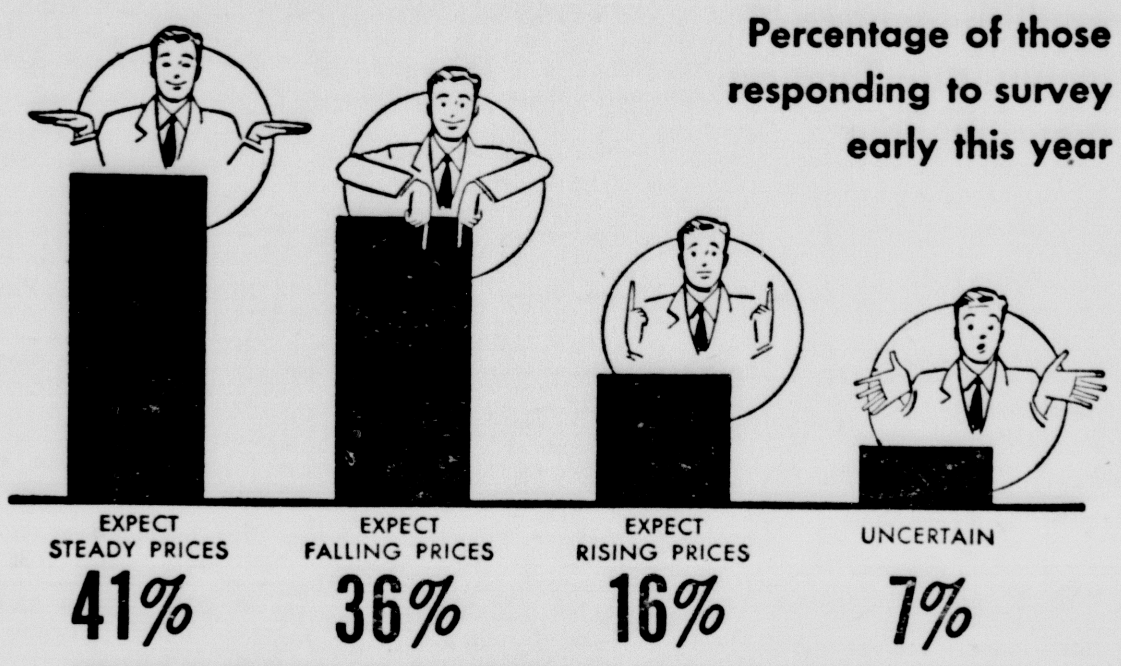
WHAT CONSUMERS EXPECT AS TO PRICE CHANGES

Percentage of those responding to survey early this year



PREPARED BY NAM RESEARCH DEPARTMENT FROM FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD STATISTICS

What consumers anticipate in the way of future price changes — whether they prove right or wrong — has an important influence on their current economic decisions. It is significant that a recent Federal Reserve Board survey shows that, in early 1954, the largest group of consumers expect prices to remain steady. As always, some expect prices to fall; others expect prices to rise, but there is not a majority in either direction. This is not too much different from the situation a year ago, but it is vastly different from the pattern in early 1951 when 77 percent of consumers expected prices to rise and early in 1952 when 53 percent expected them to rise.

About 41 percent of consumers now expect prices to remain substantially unchanged through 1954. These people are not likely to engage in panic spending in order to buy before prices increase, neither are they likely to hold off in anticipation of lower prices.

A somewhat smaller number — 36 percent — expect falling prices. These consumers may postpone some types of buying, thereby leaving a backlog of needs and desires in the future. To some extent, the hoped-for lower prices already have materialized.

Another 16 percent of all consumer units in early 1954 expect rising prices. (An additional 7 percent were uncertain). This is smaller than the corresponding percentage in any year since the beginning of the Korean War.

The trend suggests that while consumers, in their present mood, are not likely to be scared into buying in the near future, they can be enticed into buying.

(6) If after full hearing the governing body finds that the keeping of cattle at the premises will constitute a nuisance unless the permit holder takes certain specific action, it shall direct that such action be taken. The suspension of the permit shall forthwith be cancelled by the governing body.

SECTION 5: Nothing in this ordinance shall be held to repeal or amend any other ordinance, but shall be cumulative thereto unless in direct conflict. The specifications and regulations promulgated by the state health officer in accordance with Article 165-3 Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, as amended, heretofore adopted or re-affirmed and shall be applicable to cattle as defined in Section 1 of this ordinance.

SECTION 6: Each of the provisions of this ordinance are severable and, if any provision shall be declared to be invalid, the remaining provisions shall not be affected, but shall remain in full force and effect.

World's First!

Phillips 66 presents the first All-Weather Motor Oil which has proved it meets the most exacting standard ever established for automobile lubrication... Mil-0-2104, Supplement 1 level.

Phillips 66
Trop-Artic
THE ALL WEATHER MOTOR OIL

The toughest standard ever set up for automobile lubrication is the Mil-0-2104 Supplement 1 test. New Trop-Artic is the first all-weather motor oil to meet the requirements of this test. It is an oil which will serve you winter and summer . . . an oil so good it can double the life of an automobile engine!

Compared to ordinary motor oils, new Trop-Artic reduces ring wear 40% or more. It cuts oil consumption 15% to 45%. It keeps pistons and bearings cleaner . . . longer-lasting. It saves you money by increasing gasoline mileage. This has been demonstrated in tests representing over 150,000 miles of driving.

Trop-Artic is truly an all-weather oil . . . S.A.E. 10W through S.A.E. 30. Therefore it flows instantly for easy starting at sub-zero temperatures, and yet it retains the film strength necessary to prevent engine wear under high temperature driving conditions. It isn't just heavy duty. It's double duty.

Any car, in any climate, at any time of the year will perform better with Phillips 66 Trop-Artic. It is a worthy companion product to Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel, the new high performance gasoline recently introduced by Phillips. It pays to stop at the station where you see the Phillips 66 Shield.

J. Evetts Haley Is Rotary Club Speaker Tuesday

J. Evetts Haley of Canyon and Lubbock was the speaker Tuesday at the weekly luncheon of the Canyon Rotary Club. He was presented by Mayor Hosea Foster who announced that Charles Donnell would speak soon on the possibilities of a city park.

Mr. Haley stated that he was greatly interested in politics. "It is the most important subject in the world," stated Haley.

Haley stated that he was tired of being lied to and seeing taxes out of all proportions collected from American citizens. "We have fought three world wars simply because our leaders have lied to us, and issued all kinds of untrue propaganda."

As for taxes, Haley asserted that all business was based upon profit. Taking the illustration of General Motors, he charged that the government was getting in taxes three times the amount that the stockholders are paid. College graduates who have studied for five to eight years have to pay one-fifth of their income to the government.

Propagandists have tried to buy goodwill throughout the world, and they have failed. Now they are telling us that we must save Indochina. "Leadership is the only thing wrong with our armies."

Politics defeated our purpose at Yalta, and Berlin, and later in Korea. We have always been a peace loving people, "but we jump into every war in the world," and never win a war. Our leaders are now trying to get us into World War III. They say that Indochina is important to us! We whipped Japan without Indochina and any of the products which we now say are so essential. "What is so important about that island?" asked the speaker in final rebuttal.

Twelve visitors were present.

Not in retirement, Judge George L. Davenport became judge of the 91st District Court in Eastland County in 1920 when the court was created and served for more than 30 years. He presided over civil suits involving millions of dollars and over many dramatic trials.

Tall and erect, Judge Davenport is, in appearance and demeanor, every inch a judge. He is reserved, quiet, deliberate but friendly courteous and deferential.

He was born in Coryell County near the McLennan County line. Just over the line lived a lad who was a little older. They attended the same country school. The other boy was careless in the way he dressed and was always full of fun. If his schoolmate ever made a speech, Davenport does not recall it.

This lad was destined to become governor of Texas, a brilliant orator, meticulous in retirement (the black felt hat, long coat and high collar of the statesman), a model of dignity. His name? Pat M. Neff.

Davenport's career as a lawyer and judge covers more than half a century. In 1900, he was prosecuting attorney of Eastland County. One man of that era whom he recalls was a badman, dreaded for his skill with a six-gun. But Judge Davenport remembers an individual who was not daunted by the fellow's reputation.

A Stephens County rancher has sold a considerable number of cattle to the badman and the check proved worthless. The loss would mean ruin to the ranchman. He had the fellow arrested and, at a preliminary hearing in Eastland, the complainant had answered all questions asked by either side and then he said looking directly at the accused, "I want to close by saying that if I do not get my money, you will not have to try this fellow." He got the money.

Later, the "tough" and several companions were involved in the killing of an officer in Oklahoma and were hanged by a mob.

Judge Davenport was never in any danger during any of the many hard-fought cases over which he presided—"or, at least if I was, I didn't know it," he said. Then, after a moment he continued, "There might have been one time."

The incident occurred during the trial of Henry Helms, leader of the Santa Claus gang that robbed the bank at Cisco in December, 1927. Helms stood at the side door which opened into the alley beside the bank, an automatic in each hand firing alternately at officers to right and left who were firing riot guns and pistols. Two officers were fatally wounded by Helms' bullets.

After a pursuit of a week, the bandits were captured and Helms was placed on trial in the Eastland city hall, as the old courthouse was being torn down.

A large number of weapons had been taken from the robbers and this arsenal, introduced in evidence, lay on a table before the bench. There was a short recess during which the jury left the courtroom and so did almost all the spectators. Judge Davenport was in his chair and the prisoner sat in his accustomed place. The judge saw that the gaze of the defendant was fixed on that row of pistols—weapons which he had proved he could use with deadly effect. Davenport glanced around. Not an officer was in the courtroom.

A spectator who grasped the menace of the situation hurried into the hall and summoned officers. Helms' opportunity to make a bold try for freedom has passed. With a smile, Judge Davenport drily remarks, "If he had made the attempt, he would have met no active opposition from me."

Helms was found guilty and died in the electric chair.

Land Uses As Outlined by the Laws of Texas

Texas laws and court decisions regulate to some extent your dealings with your next door neighbor and his property. Adjoining landowners have many mutual rights and obligations, and your rights to the use of your own property may sometimes be limited by the effect of the intended use on your immediate neighbors.

Such limitations are in addition to those imposed by municipal zoning ordinances, building codes and other restrictions designed to protect the interests of an entire subdivision or city, or the public generally.

For example, say you have just bought the vacant lot next to Mr. Smith's property out on Main Street. Smith has a fine, big tree on his property but it juts over onto your lot and those overhanging branches will interfere with the plans you have for building your house.

You can't go over to Smith's lot and cut down his tree even though the branches will make your proposed living room as dark as the catacombs at midnight. On the other hand, neither does Smith have a right to let the tree on his land extend over your property, especially when it is going to interfere with your use of that property, so you do have the right to get rid of the offending branches.

However, before you start sawing you had better consider whether the removal of the branches will damage the tree. It is still Smith's tree and you don't want to cause it to die. The best thing to do is have a talk with Smith and see if you can arrange to have the limb cut off by someone who knows how to do so without harming the tree.

Of course, a boundary tree—where the trunk is on both sides of the boundary line—can be cut only by consent of both the owners.

Another possible problem: Let's say you want to cut down the front of your lot below the level of Smith's yard. The soil is pretty loose and you are sure that when you lower the grade, Smith's yard will slide all along the cut. However, you figure that it is up to Smith to do whatever is necessary to keep his land from sliding over on yours. He can put up a retaining wall or something.

The law says you had better slow up a bit in this instance. The way things stand, Smith's yard is not currently in any danger of sliding. If you change that condition by cutting your land down, then it is your obligation to see that it doesn't cause damage to his property. It is up to you to put up the retaining wall if one is necessary to keep the adjoining land from sliding.

Suppose you and Smith build a driveway together so you can both save the biggest possible space for lawn. You get along fine with Smith, but he later sells his house to a new owner who wants to take up part of the driveway and plant petunias there. He can probably do it if you did not have a definite, written agreement with Smith by which the subsequent owner is bound.

Probably the best way to handle such a situation would be to have a written agreement with Smith and record it with the County Clerk before the driveway is built. Anyone buying the property later would thereby have notice of the agreement and be bound by it.

Forrest Gruner Is Owner Mystery Farm No. 46

Mystery Farm No. 46 is owned and operated by Forrest Gruner. The farm is located eight miles northeast of town and has been worked by Gruner since 1941.

It was in 1941 that Forrest Gruner married Miss Juanita Parker. The couple has two children, Cindy, who just recently turned six, and Bob, the little boy who has been four for a long time.

The farm shown in the picture consists of 640 acres or one section. Gruner says the two favorite crops are wheat and grain sorghums. Wheat has a slight edge in preference over grain sorghums when conditions are favorable for it. The farm is under irrigation and modern methods are used. Whitefaced cattle are raised and the feed supply for the cattle is raised on the farm.

Gruner bought the farm from E. B. Burgess. He says he can remember the farm from early childhood but has no idea when it was first put into cultivation. One of the latest developments at the place has been the addition of a new house completed in 1951. The family are members of the First Baptist Church and Mr. Gruner belongs to the Farm Bureau.

As a modern farmer Gruner has found it necessary to use some fertilizer and occasionally some weed control spray. As yet he has not found it necessary to use insect control spray.

HOW RIGHT

Democrats and Republicans in Congress are accusing one another of playing politics. It is one of the few occasions on which both have been absolutely and demonstrably right about something.

OR MAYE BLIND

"My little daughter has swallowed a gold sovereign and has got to be operated on. I wonder if Dr. Robinson is to be trusted?"

"Without a doubt. He's absolutely honest."

New rules designed to liberalize trading in nonstrategic goods with Soviet-controlled areas were agreed on by the United States, Britain, and France.

Japan will not use its fleet to escort fishing vessels.

NOW!

Now is the time to wish for a divine wind to blow and remove entirely all selfish and aggressive ideas, and all treacheries and guiles following them, leaving not even tiny specks.

ALIKE

There is, so to speak, a greater resemblance than appears on the surface between prayer-meetings and peace conferences; the people who need them least attend.

WHERE

The New York Girl who objected to finger-printing, added that she wouldn't care if they tattooed where it wouldn't show. And where would that be?

Milton R. Young, U. S. Senator from North Dakota: "Republicans may lose control of Congress and the Government if they support Eisenhower Administration farm policies."

Don Loper, Hollywood designer of clothes: "Some of the world's worst-dressed women are to be found among Hollywood stars."

Three other cadets, "most outstanding" in their classes, received awards of a similar nature, and 20 other individual awards and three unit awards were presented during the ceremonies.

Outstanding third-year cadet was Raymond Broome, Kellerville junior, who received the "PMS&T" trophy, given by Col. Raymond H. Lumry. The W. E. A beautiful green and white birthday cake and other lovely refreshments were served after the nice gifts were opened and admired.

Those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hagar, Mr. and Mrs. Clee Pond, C. G., Pat, and Ivan, Jenean Merrick, Mrs. Trout, and the honoree. Mr. Trout, of Augusta, Ga., arrived in time to join in on the latter part of the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Slack, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cleveland of Amarillo have recently returned from a trip to the West Coast and British Columbia.

U. S. FOOD SUPPLY

Food supplies for late spring and early summer may be even more plentiful than the bountiful supplies of 1953, according to the Agriculture Department. Americans are likely to eat more chicken, eggs and dairy products than a year earlier, with the output of these products high and prices lower. Civilian demand for food so far this year has not been significantly affected by the decline in business activity and employment which began last summer.

J. R. Poppele, former vice-president of the Mutual Broadcasting System, has accepted appointment as the new head of the Voice of America, replacing Leonard F. Erickson, who recently resigned.

Mrs. M. Hudson, London expert on juvenile delinquency, urging good diet: "A great deal of juvenile delinquency has to do with digestion."

Harrells Show Trophies From Hunt in Africa

The excitement of an African safari is made real in a display of big game heads and skins being exhibited at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. More than two dozen trophies brought back from Africa by Mr. and Mrs. Newton Harrell, prominent area ranchers, will remain on display for an indefinite period.

The exhibit was arranged in time for the 33rd annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Harrell and their son, Ed, were in the Nairobi, Africa, area in August 1952, where they hunted primarily for trophies of the different wild life specimens.

Most sought-after trophy obtained by the Harrells was a large leopard, whose mounted head and skin are among the items on display.

"We placed bait in a tree and set up a blind," Mrs. Harrell said. "The leopard we killed came for the bait on two different days before we were able to get him."

Probably the greatest hunting thrill for Harrell was his bagging a Cape Buffalo. The dangerous animal was wounded by the Claude rancher and escaped into the brush and the party was forced to seek him out. Trapped by a steep creek bank, the big bull charged Harrell and his guide before they were able to bring him down.

The speedy Cheetah, capable of racing more than 70 miles an hour, and the vicious wart hog are also among the Harrells' prized trophies. The feet of an elephant which the party killed, are also shown, now converted into two ottoman stools. The animal's tusks are also displayed.

Among skins on view are those of a Zebra, Cheetah, Dik Dik (a small delicate deer about the size of a jack rabbit), Bush Buck, Thompson Gazelle, Gerenuk, and leopard.

Head trophies hanging on the museum walls include the Grant Gazelle, Clip Springer, Gerenuk, two Impalas, the Topi, Bush Buck, Thompson Gazelle, Wilde Beeste, Water Buck, Kongoni, and Dik Dik, among the deer and antelope family, and the leopard, Cape Buffalo, and wart hog.

VA TOY-MAKING

The Veterans Administration has announced that a toy-making and repair project, carried on in 26 hospitals and involving more than 3,100 patients last year, is to be materially expanded for next Christmas. Some 30,000 toys were turned out by the patients, usually long-term mental, tubercular and other chronic cases, for distribution to needy and orphan children. The VA said that, in the treatment of the seriously sick, the program is of "incalculable value."

POLIO TESTS

The test of the new polio vaccine in selected areas across the nation has begun and officials estimate that approximately 500,000 children in some 170 communities of 45 states eventually will receive the vaccine, with 400,000 others receiving inoculations with an inert substance. These latter children will be among those who will be used as "controls" for the test — an evaluation report on which is not expected before late in the fall.

"OPERATIONS ALERT"

Forty-two cities in the United States will participate in a nationwide test, "Operation Alert," on June 14, at which time the entire country will be submitted to simulated attacks by an enemy. The test is designed to train Civil Defense workers in the entire country and to determine how well they could handle a real atomic attack

Saturday Morning Coffee Announces Wedding Plans of Pam McDonald

MISS PATRICIA ANN "PAM" McDONALD

To announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Pam McDonald, Mrs. Bryan McDonald entertained at the McDonald home Saturday morning with coffee from 9 until 11 o'clock.

Pam will become the bride of James B. Thompson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thompson, Sr., of Kermit on June 16 in the First Methodist Church in Canyon.

Names and dates were revealed in an artistic centerpiece arrangement that also depicted the occupation of the bridegroom-to-be. A gusher oil derrick built of white satin chenille stood on a flocked blue styrofoam base. Gushing from this derrick were billows of blue feathered carnations. Intermingled with this simulated oil stream were dainty bows and arrows from which fell white loveknot braid ending on the table in pools of blue feathered carnations.

Extending from the base to the corners of the table were streamers of white sheer-centered ribbon with cut-out satin edging. Standing under the arch made by the gushing streamers were a miniature bride and groom surrounded by massed feathered carnations and trees made of velvet maiden hair fern. Near base of the derrick in gold lettering were the names Pam and James and the date June 16.

The 158 guests registering were greeted by Mrs. T. H. Knighton, Mrs. McDonald, Miss Pam McDonald, Mrs. J. B. Thompson, Sr., Miss Nina Thompson, Mrs. Frank McMullan of Ozona, sister of Miss McDonald, Mrs. C. F. Kerr of Hereford, paternal grandmother of Pam.

Mrs. Joe Davidson of Ozona, Mrs. Bill Kerr of Hereford, aunts of the honoree, and Mrs. Eugene Slater of Amarillo presided at the silver coffee service.

Mrs. Walton Byrd and Mrs. Glenn Dowlen at the piano played a soft background of appropriate musical selections.

Cheese straws, nuts, tiny cinnamon rolls and an assortment of cake squares decorated with tiny oil derricks, doves, wedding bells, and orange blossoms were served with the coffee.

Members of the house party were Mesdames W. A. Miller, Eddie Conner, H. R. Fulton, Jr., I. F. SoRelle, M. B. Measamer, W. A. Warren, C. O. Elkins, L. L. Byars, Ray Campbell, Clarence Thompson, L. H. Owens, J. A. Hill, Kelly McGehee, Lindsey Taylor, Clay Ridgway of Hereford, Bob Birchfield and Jerry La Gron of Amarillo, W. C. Hutchinson of Pampa, Clyde Dunn of Kermit, J. B. Carlisle of Clarendon, Miss Pat Duzan of Plainview, and Miss Peggy Dunn of Kermit.

NOT IF THEY'RE GOOD 'UNS

"You've been convicted 14 times of this offense — aren't you ashamed to own to that?"

"No, your worship. I don't think one ought to be ashamed of his convictions."

Precautions To Be Taken in Snake Bite

AUSTIN: A warning about the dangers of snake bite has just been issued by Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. A number of cases of snake bite are reported each year in Texas during the summer and early fall; however, few of these result fatally.

Most of the bites occur on the hands or feet, which indicates that stepping or falling in the immediate vicinity of an unseen snake or picking up objects under similar conditions are the hazards of contracting snake bite. The pain following the injection of the poison is most intense. Other symptoms are swelling, giddiness, difficult breathing, hemorrhage, weak pulse and vomiting.

If one is unfortunate enough to be bitten by a poisonous snake, such as the rattlesnake, the following first aid measures should be carried out.

After making proper incisions at the site of the wound, apply suction and continue for at least half an hour.

Apply a tourniquet above the site of the wound, releasing same every ten or fifteen minutes for about 5 seconds at a time.

If the proper antivenom serum is available, apply it according to directions, but most important of all is to remove as much of the poison as is possible so as to prevent its absorption.

Secure the services of a physician at the earliest possible moment.

If one is bitten by a poisonous snake DO NOT run or get overheated and DO NOT take any alcoholic stimulants because circulation increased by alcohol or exercise serves to distribute the poison much more rapidly through the body.

DON'T injure the tissues by injecting permanganate of potash, which is known to be of no value as an antidote.

DON'T depend upon home remedies or so-called snake bite cures, for they are no value.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

Daylight saving time began on April 25th for millions of Americans, while the other millions ignore it. As in the past, about 45 per cent of the population set their clocks one hour ahead; 55 per cent live by old time. Three New England states — Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire — decided to extend daylight saving time for an extra month, until the last Sunday in October. Usually the span is from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September, which is September 26 this year.

12th DIVORCE HER LAST?

Knoxville, Tenn. — In granting Mrs. Edna Hunt Tankersley's 12th divorce, Domestic Relations Judge Richard Douglass said that, as far as he's concerned, it's her "final final decree." Her 11th divorce, granted on September 29, was from the same man. The couple remarried November 6.

Just Between You, Me . . .
. . . and the Gatepost

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

This is the week for that a lot of youngsters will find a certain happiness that they haven't known since August. Summer vacation certainly holds a world of thrilling anticipation for the high school and college graduates. Of course the others enjoy it too but they have to think about returning to school in the fall.

Swimming and a lot of other sports such as baseball and tennis will be enjoyed by the youngsters this summer. Something new in the sporting field has been recently added to Canyon too. Bill, commonly known as Moe, Greenhouse, is giving trampoline lessons on the ground floor of the Palace Hotel, southwest corner of the square. The trampoline is that thing you jump up and down on and turn flips occasionally. He has extended an invitation to all youngsters interested in this type of sport to come down and give the trampoline a try.

Plans are still in the making by the VFW Club for the Memorial Day breakfast and service to be held this year at the VFW club grounds. It will be the first time in several years that the club has conducted such a ceremony. One of the most touching and most significant phase of the service will be the honoring of gold star mothers. All gold star mothers in this area are cordially invited to attend the services.

For several days now Gene Davis has been in his new position as manager of the Pampa store for his company. This week Mrs. Davis and the children are going up to join Gene. A farewell tea was planned by friends of Mrs. Davis in bidding her goodbye. The family has a lot of friends here and will be missed greatly by them.

The Golden Spread should have a variety of colors very soon now that we have had nearly two inches of moisture. It was the manner in which the rain fell rather than the amount that fell that makes it a drouth-breaking affair. As a general rule in this part of the state rain comes down in literal torrents then it clears off and gets so hot that much of the moisture is taken up by evaporation.

During the several days that it did rain, the moisture came down fairly steady and it remained cloudy and foggy which gave the moisture an opportunity to penetrate the soil and not evaporate into the air. Later when the sun came out it was screened by clouds periodically which slowed up the drying up process ideally. Yes sir, the Golden Spread has certainly become golden again.

J. M. Breitling and Justice of the Peace Carl Anderson were wondering last week just how badly the wheat was damaged by the late freeze. According to the reports given the damage hasn't been too extensive. Neither does the wheat look damaged when you drive out to have a look at it. If you haven't made it a point to see some of the wheat fields in the past ten days, you should do so. You'll be surprised a how it's growing. Before you know it, harvest time will be here.

Husbands who can convincingly compliment the wife's latest hat should rush to Hollywood for a screen test.

Jokes about our weather should be slowed down to a walk for the next few months because it will be too beautiful for jokes.

Laughter is an excellent tonic for what ails you. Treat yourself to a good wholesome laugh by seeing a movie. Charles Donnell tells us that we will soon be able to see cinemascope films here in Canyon.

WARREN'S

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The Foreign Policy

The foreign policy troubles of this administration are not new and are not unusual. History will show that almost every administration, regardless of party, has had its foreign policy troubles. Whether the present troubles are better or worse than the ones that preceded them in other administrations is a matter of opinion.

Frankly, I do not think they are a great deal different. Whether or not we agree upon the type of the trouble, I am sure that we all agree that they cannot be settled or solved without a unified approach by the American people. In order to win this international game, we must utilize the services of the best players that we have available, whether they wear the colors of the elephant or the donkey.

We must have faith and confidence in them and permit them to outline their own plays and their own strategy. We must all join together and stand behind them to present to the entire world a unified front on the part of our citizens.

I cannot over-stress the great need for faith and confidence in the team that we put in the field. A team without that faith and confidence of the American people would be handcuffed and shackled.

One of the biggest obstacles that Dulles faced at Geneva was the fact that the position of the United States had been publicized all over the world for weeks. Russia did not need an espionage system to find out how far Dulles could go without having to return home for further instructions.

Chinese Reds were, of course, in the same position. The American people had demanded to know the position of this administration, and the administration, in all fairness, gave them the exact facts. If this information could have been confined to the American people, it would have been fine, however, it must be remembered that when such information is given out, it immediately becomes news of worldwide interest and is spread throughout every country in the world in a matter of minutes.

If we are to advertise our plays in advance, we can expect the enemy to take full advantage of our self-imposed handicap, and we can expect the game to be a tough one.

Domestic Front Legislation

On Monday of last week a bill was presented to the House undertaking to expand the provisions of a present law with which I am not in full accord. This law in effect provides that a person who commits a crime in a foreign country or a country which is occupied by or under the control of the United States, if found in this country, may be taken to such foreign or occupied country and tried there under the laws applicable in that particular place.

No one objects to a person being tried for a crime that he commits against society. If a citizen voluntarily goes into a foreign country, he runs the risk of being charged with a crime, just the same as a foreigner who visits the United States. However, the law also includes GI's, many of whom are in foreign countries, not because they want to travel, but because they were drafted and sent into those foreign countries. They are soldiers of the United States who have been sent into those countries to help defend the people of those countries.

In many instances, these are countries that were recently enemies of the United States. To say that a boy could be drafted into the Army, compelled to go into a foreign country to defend that country, and after he has served his time and returned to his own country, be forcibly returned to the foreign country and subjected to the jurisdiction of the courts of that country on some charge that could easily be frivolous, to be judged by those who only a few years ago were shooting real bullets at American soldiers, just doesn't make sense to me.

The truth is the present law does not take care of this situation, and I expect to offer an amendment to it as soon as I can get it drafted. Incidentally, this attempt to amend and enlarge and expand this law was defeated by striking the enacting clause of the proposed amendment.

Another bill that was defeated resoundingly in the House on Wednesday was a bill designed to amend the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The change sought to be brought about was to change the exemption provisions in the act from $300,000 to $500,000. This is simply meant that if a group was selling stock in an amount that did not exceed $500,000, it would not have to comply with the requirements of the Securities Exchange Act. This exemption was originally $100,000, but was subsequently increased to $300,000.

Sinful (?) City of Washington

I have received a number of letters recently expressing the view that Washington must be a city of sin from the accounts the people throughout the country receive. The truth is that Washington is no more the "city of sin" than any other city of its size in the United States. The good, honest, hard-working, patriotic, law-abiding citizen of the United States has never seemed to have the news value of the corruption-laden crooks, whether they be the malicious murderer or the sly embezzler.

WOMAN'S BOOK CLUB HEARS BOOK REVIEW BY MRS. FOSTER

Final session of the Woman's Book Club for the 1953-54 year was held Wednesday in the Branding Iron Theatre, and was enjoyed by the membership and guests, about 80 altogether.

Miss Edna Graham, president, welcomed the guests, and introduced Mrs. Lee Foster who presented a review of "When He Shall Appear," by Harold Kampf, who, she explained, also writes under the name of H. B. Kay.

This book poses the question, "Can a religion become highly institutionized, and still retain its original vigor and meaning in the lives of men?" As the reviewer pointed out, the question is not answered in the book, which through a court hearing brings out the points of view of many people, high and humble, rich and poor, sick and well. Mrs. Foster made the charm and thought-provoking qualities of the book felt to her audience.

Following the review, a social hour was enjoyed, with Mrs. Frank Kimbrough, Mrs. C. R. Burrow, Mrs. Ben Beck, Mrs. R. A. Bellah, and Mrs. S. B. Loudder composing the committee in charge.

The next meeting will be held late in September. However, a number of committees will be working during the summer.

Mrs. Rufus Dodgen of Shamrock spent last week in Canyon as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Harvey Cash. She attended the birthday dinner of the Women's Council of the Presbyterian Church, at which time Mrs. Cash was the speaker chosen to present an honor to Mrs. C. R. Burrow in recognition of her 50 years of service in the local church.

Miss Darthula Walker, Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Miss Bertie Mae Williams, Miss Albessa Stevenson and Mrs. Dan Sanders attended the funeral of Andrew Smith at Goodnight on Sunday.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

By LYNDON B. JOHNSON

Indo-China

With the recent fall of Dien Bien Phu, the position of France and the Viet Namese in the Tonkin Delta became increasingly perilous.

It is perhaps true that Dien Bien Phu had become somewhat over-inflated as a symbol of resistance to communist aggression in the northwestern Indo-China. But it is also true that the Viet Minh can now concentrate on challenging Franco-Viet Namese control in Hanoi and in Haiphong.

North Viet Nam military headquarters are located in Hanoi. Haiphong is the vital seaport through which pass American supplies.

Bleak Outlook

As this is written, I recently have attended another conference between leaders of Congress and Secretary of State Dulles. I cannot discuss details of the conference, but I will say no one there pretended the outlook is anything but bleak.

A very grave threat exists in Indo-China—to the entire Tonkin Delta—even to all Asia. The communist aggressors may be expected to press forward.

Blow To U. S.

The conclusion cannot be escaped that American foreign policy has suffered a stunning reversal.

The bitter truth is that we have been caught bluffing by our enemies.

Our friends and allies are frightened and wondering—as we ourselves wonder—where we are headed. We stand in danger of being left naked and alone in a hostile world.

These are the hard facts. We must face up to their implications.

Month of Prayer

This month of May has been designated as "Come to Church" Month. Many Texas community service clubs and business organizations have arranged for daily prayer services during the month.

We need Divine Aid as perhaps never before in our national history. We must seek it earnestly and prayerfully.

Water Bill

During the 1953 session of Congress, I introduced in the Senate a bill providing for cooperative Federal-local action in attacking the problem of upstream water control. Congressman Bob Poage of Waco introduced an identical bill in the House.

The legislation has passed the House, and a special subcommittee of the Senate Agriculture Committee has been studying the Senate bill. I made a statement before the committee urging favorable action.

This is a soil and water conservation measure of the utmost importance. It would set up policies and standards for joint action by the Federal Government, the States, local government units, and landowners. Cost of projects would be shared between participants.

Save Our Water

Great dams have been built in Texas. They serve a vital purpose. But they are only part of the answer to our water supply and flood prevention problem.

From 25 to 75 per cent of all flood damage occurs in upstream areas, beyond reach of the benefits of the major downstream structures. Many small dams need to be built across Texas streams. The proposed legislation would encourage the building of these necessary water-retarding structures.

Use of Sea Water

One of these days — and it may come sooner than we think — we are going to have to make sea water fit for use by industrial, agricultural and municipal consumers.

Three years ago, Congress passed a law authorizing the appropriation of $2,000,000 over a five-year period to carry out a research program into practicable, low-cost means of turning sea water into usable water. That appropriation would be at the rate of $400,000 a year. But the House has passed a bill appropriating only $255,000 next year for this research program.

I have urged the Senate Appropriations Committee to raise the appropriation to $400,000. I believe the full sum is needed.

The research men at work in this field know already that salt water can be made usable. They are now hunting for cheaper ways of doing it. The work should go forward.

Aid For Needy

Together with all other Democratic Senators, I recently introduced a bill to meet a serious crisis which confronts our needy old people, our blind and disabled, and our dependent children.

Two years ago, Congress approved legislation increasing the Federal share of the public-assistance payments to States for aid to the aged, blind and disabled by $5 a month, and grants to dependent children by $3 a month. This increase was for two years. It is scheduled to expire September 30.

My bill extends the increase for another two years. During that time I hope we can work out a basis for putting this addition to the program on a permanent basis.

Effect in Texas

This bill to extend the increase in Federal payments is very important to Texas. Approximately 223,000 senior citizens of Texas are on the old-age assistance rolls. Unless legislation extending the increase is approved, Texas will lose approximately $13,400,000 a year in Federal funds for old-age assistance.

With the bill sponsored by all 48 Democratic Senators, I am hopeful for favorable action. Failure to act would mean a sharp reduction in the living standards of many thousands of worthy Texas citizens.

Need More to Get 2nd Bus

Dr. Murry B. Measamer, geography department head at West Texas State College who will head a field geography tour of the eastern portion of the United States this summer, has reported that 51 persons have made reservations for the class. A total of 55 is needed to assure a second class section or bus.

"While we must have 55 persons in the class to assure two buses, there is room for 70," Dr. Measamer said. "There must be at least 55 students enrolled, however, before the second section can be formed."

First bus would leave the campus July 16, and the second section on July 17, with the full tour to continue through 26 days before the groups return to Canyon.

Six semester hours may be earned in the course, which will feature study at first hand of geologic formations, land forms, climate, water resources, and natural vegetation, along with agricultural and industrial developments, transportation, urbanization, and population growth within regions visited.

First geography tour was sponsored last summer, when a class toured the western section of the country and Canada. The class has daily lectures and will have final examinations upon return to the campus about August 10.

The tour will take students to Memphis, through the Tennessee Valley Authority projects, the Great Smoky Mountains, to Richmond, Baltimore, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, New York, Boston, into Canada, returning home via Niagara Falls and Detroit.

Calliham and Findley To Lead Heritage Groups

Last meetings of the American Heritage discussion groups for this year will be held Monday, May 24, and Thursday, May 27, at 7:30 in the conference room of the West Texas State College library.

Subject for discussion at the final meetings will be "America and the World," with Dr. M. R. Calliham leading the Monday night discussion, and Joseph Findley the Thursday group.

When "America's Resources" were under consideration at last week's meeting, a 30-minute film, "The Canadian Dam Project," was shown to give local application to some of the thinking with regard to resources throughout the entire nation.

Any citizens who would like to visit the last meetings with a view of possible membership next year are invited to do so. There are no fees in connection with the American Heritage Project.

State Capitol NEWS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN: Governor Allan Shivers thinks that his opponent, Ralph W. Yarborough, "may be" receiving some financial help from George Parr, the South Texas politico.

It was quite a coincidence, Shivers said, that Yarborough and Parr announced their candidacies on the same day. Parr is running for district judge.

Shivers said he supposes Yarborough will make "the same sort of campaign of personal villification and name-calling he made two years ago."

After making these remarks to reporters, the governor left with Mrs. Shivers for a vacation in Alabama. Later he will go to Korea with several other governors, returning to Texas June 1.

Thereafter, he said, "there will be a long time for campaigning."

Yarborough's Reply

To Shivers' remarks about him, Yarborough retorted that "my opponent realizes that the political ground is slipping out from under him and is wildly slinging mud in all directions. Anybody who can manufacture that much mud in one sitting ought to go to work and do something about the drouth."

Shivers and Yarborough shaped up as the leading contenders in the race for governor. Other candidates who paid their $600 filing fee were J. J. Holmes, Austin general contractor, and Arlon Barton "Cyclone" Davis of Dallas, frequently a candidate for state office.

Young Democrats of Texas squared away into two factions, ready for the coming summers political battles.

One side, friendly to Shivers, promised a precinct-by-precinct fight for control of the party machinery. The other faction held a meeting in San Antonio, where Yarborough was a principal speaker.

Other Races

A number of state office holders were unopposed for re-election.

These included Land Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, Congressman-at-large Martin Dies, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, Treasurer Jesse James and Supreme Court Justices J. E. Hickman and Clyde E. Smith, and Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd drew a late-filing opponent in the person of Doug Crouch, a state representative from Denton who recently moved to Fort Worth.

Opposing Judge Few Brewster for a place on the state supreme court are Alfred M. Scott of Austin and Robert B. Keenann of Gladewater.

A three-man field set out in the race for lieutenant governor, with Ben Ramsey seeking re-election and having as his opponents George T. Hinson of Mineola and C. T. Johnson of Austin.

Harry N. Graves of Georgetown retired from his place on the court of criminal appeals, and the position is being sought by Alan B. Haley of Wichita Falls, Lloyd W. Davidson of Austin, W. C. Graves of Dallas and Sam W. Davis of Houston.

Running against U. S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson is State Representative Dudley T. Dougherty, wealthy Beeville rancher and oil man.

Republicans File

All those candidates listed above will seek nomination at the Democratic primaries. The Republicans will have a primary election, too, for the third time in Texas history. Here are the GOP candidates:

For U. S. Senator: Carlos G. Watson of Brownsville and Willard T. Holland of Houston.

For governor: Todd R. Adams of Crockett.

For commissioner of agriculture: Harold W. Linderman of Houston.

For congressman-at-large: Thomas H. Nolan of San Antonio.

More candidates may be permitted to file up to June 7, said Alvin Lane, state Republican chairman.

Two Million Voters

It is possible that more than two million votes may be cast in this year's elections.

Anyway, there are that many persons eligible to vote in Texas.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert announced that poll taxes paid add up to 1,640,101. More than half a million others may vote by getting exemptions.

In the presidential race between Eisenhower and Stevenson, Texans cast 2,075,946 votes.

More To Come

Texas' population will stand above the 12 million mark by 1975, according to a survey made by the Texas Research League.

Privately financed, the league makes studies for the state and other units of government.

If Texas' water problem is solved, the population growth will be much faster than the survey shows, said Alvin A. Burger, the league's director.

The state will be wise, Burger said, to anticipate growth and plan to provide public services for a greatly expanded population.

Not Enough Money

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White was gratified to learn that President Eisenhower had authorized the expenditure of $10 million to aid five drouth-stricken states, including Texas, but he said it wasn't enough.

Ten or fifteen million dollars won't whip the drouth problem, said White, "but it's a move in the right direction."

Road Situation

For a long time, Texas has had—and still has—a road problem.

To build a first-class highway system in this state will take an expenditure of $1,665,310,000, according to the state highway department.

In a booklet titled "Texas Highway Needs," the department said:

"The trunk or main highway, representing the backbone of the highway system, presents the most critical problem confronting the people of Texas.

"These trunk highways have now become outmoded and obsolete."

Next year, the Texas Good Roads Association will ask the Legislature for an additional tax on gasoline of a penny a gallon to boost revenue for highways.

Radar Rides Highways

Heavy footed drivers will be arresting themselves before long. A radar system has been installed by the Texas Department of Public Safety to facilitate the apprehension of speeders on Texas highways.

Plan Commission

Governor Shivers appointed an Economic Advisory Commission and called a meeting of its members for May 17 to start long-range planning on a number of problems, such as recession, inflation or deflation, drouth, and government.

Public officials, legislators, labor leaders, and representatives of business and agriculture make up the commission's membership.

New Officials

Dr. Henry Holle, Texan who has been a United States public health administrator in New York City, was sworn in as this state's health officer. He succeeds Dr. George W. Cox.

Mark Wentz of Big Spring was appointed state fire insurance commissioner to fill out the term of the late Paul Brown. H. C. Pittman of Waco was named a member of the Industrial Accident Board, replacing Robert L. Hill, who resigned.

Laughlin Case

On its way to the U. S. Supreme Court is the appeal of former District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice, removed from office by the Texas Supreme Court. Meanwhile, Laughlin is seeking re-election to a new term in the same court.

Junior Colleges

Something needs to be done about junior colleges, which have been growing rapidly in number and size, says Cecil A. Morgan of Fort Worth, head of a State Board of Education committee.

Good work is being done by the junior colleges, the committee said, but new laws should be passed to regulate them. Thirty-one junior colleges are now receiving $2,610,000 a year in state aid.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

President Eisenhower is angered by persistent leaks that tip off Communists on moves under study by U. S. affecting Indo-China. The President has given orders to find out who is talking.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Army Staff Chief, and Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force Staff Chief, both oppose direct involvement in Indo-China of American forces. They argue that, if there is to be war, this country should hit at the heart of the enemy and not tie down forces in indecisive battles.

Mr. Eisenhower is advised by Senate leaders that it will be difficult to get approval for use of U. S. troops in Indo-China under almost any circumstances as long as France refuses to draft French youths for that war.

Admiral Arthur Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, feels that sea power can be brought to bear effectively against Asia's Communists, without involvement of land forces. The President insists, however, that the U. S. will not use military force unless as part of a joint undertaking with present allies and native states.

If the French make a deal with the Communists on Indo-China, U. S. taxpayers will be able to save about 1 billion dollars a year in aid that now goes to France to pay most of the cost of that war.

Men from Russia's secret police, deserting, have brought information about Britain's two missing diplomats—Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess—that tis being pieced together to determine the job these men are doing for the Communists.

Sir Winston Churchill, Britain's Prime Minister, is described as more than ever determined to hold on to his job as a result of the hydrogen bomb and the deepening crisis in Asia. Sir Winston, approaching 80, is said to feel that he is irreplaceable, if not indispensable, in the dangerous world of today. He still wants to talk to Malenkov.

V. M. Molotov, the Kremlin's top diplomat, is forcing Nam Il, North Korea's Foreign Minister, to write all of his speeches in Russian before they are translated into Korea for delivery. Mr. Molotov wants to take no chance on a slip.

Chou En-lai, No. 1 Chinese Communist diplomat, is telling the British that, if they work hard to get Communist China into the United Nations, the Chinese will exchange ambassadors with Britain. The British recognized the Chinese Communists four years ago, but the Communists do not yet recognize the British.

India's Pandit Nehru still is angling for an invitation to sit in on the negotiations at Geneva over Korea and Indo-China.

Robert Stevens, Secretary of the Army, was following a line laid down by the top political command when he went out of his way to show interest in Private G. David Schine. The policy was laid down of trying to win favor with Senator Joseph McCarthy by showing favor to his aides.

Gen. William B. Persons, top White House adviser on policy toward Congress, is ready to admit now that efforts to please Senator McCarthy did not save the Administration from trouble with the Senator. At least two department heads are coming under Senator McCarthy's fire.

Senator Karl Mundt, of South Dakota, despite reports to the contrary, is to face little real opposition for renomination by the Republicans of his State. Senator Mundt is in the limelight as chairman of the Senate subcommittee investigating the case of Private Schine.

Richard Nixon, Vice President, still is trying to fill the role of an adjuster to temper or to end the growing fight within the Republican Party between Senator McCarthy and appointees of President Eisenhower.

George Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury, is being credited with an important part in persuading Republican leaders of the House of Representatives to permit the vote that will result in building the St. Lawrence Seaway. Political effects of this decision are expected to be important in the Midwest, which long has favored the Seaway.

Adlai Stevenson's health, despite encouraging reports, is not what it might. The Democratic candidate of 1952 has undergone two operatoins for kidney stones and is not in robust physical condition.

Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio, seeking his fifth term, is telling friends that he will close the door to a presidential nomination by the Democrats long before 1956. Governor Lausche, a Catholic, is pictured as doubting the wisdom of reopening a religious issue in politics at this time.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

BY LOUISE ALLEN

A woman who lives in Washington, D. C., was back in her home town last week.

"I can't get over it," she said in amazement. "In Washington, we talk about nothing but world conditions. What with the newspapers, radio and t-v, we have Indochina, or the hydrogen bomb, or the Army-McCarthy affair morning, noon and night. At home, at luncheons and teas, we never think of anything else! Down here, I feel as if I were on another planet . . . Nobody ever mentions any of them!"

We feel a little ashamed that her charges are partially true. The women of our town still talk clothes and children and menus, once in awhile a book (fiction, of course), the church, the spouse's job. And yet most of us are uncomfortably aware of the chaotic times in which we live.

As for the McCarthy-Army feud, is it distance that makes it seem two equally patriotic factions, at odds over the means for saving our country rather than the end? Could it be that both have lost sight of the lode star because of the clouds?

Probably the truth is that we're still playing ostrich down here. Up there, we sometimes wonder if they aren't playing "chicken little." Only this time, of course, the sky may be falling.

Simply being calm, without purpose, is about as stupid as getting nervous and tense without coming through it to some good results. The minister said it for us the other day: Aren't there a lot of us who think we're good Christians, he asked, acting like atheists by losing sight of God? Without Him, whether calm or worried, we aren't going to work this thing out.

According to The Amarillo Register, Mrs. Frank Grabber has been selected as the Diocesan Catholic Mother of the Year. She is a member of St. Mary's Church, Umbarger.

Mr. and Mrs. Grabber were married 31 years ago. They have 11 children in their family.

Three children are serving in the Catholic Church: Eugene is Brother Alphonse of Canon City, Colo.; Theresa is Sister Mark Edward of San Antonio; Leona is in training at Ft. Smith, Ark.

The four married children are Florence, Mrs. Harry R. Arndt, who is living on a farm in Gullman, Ala.; Margaret, Mrs. Clarence Bertrand, a farmer's wife in St. Francis; John, farming a place adjoining the parental home; and Lillian, Mrs. Richard E. Friemel, a farmer's wife, living west of Umbarger.

At home are Mary, who works at Neblett Hospital in Canyon; Bernard, Bernice, and Edward. Bernice is in high school and Edward in grammar school.

Father Andrew Marthaler, pastor at Umbarger, reports that Mrs. Grabber is a zealous and constant worker in anything that pertains to the Parish. Mr. Grabber has the same attitude toward his Church as does all of the children of the couple.

Nominations for the award were made by local groups throughout the diocese, with the final selection made by Bishop Laurence J. FitzSimon of Amarillo.

MARCH TAX TAKE

The March 15th tax take by the Federal Government totaled an estimated $11,454,000,000 according to a financial statement issued as of March 31st. Receipts were bigger this March than a year before; expenditures were smaller; the deficit and debt declined more, and the cash balance rose more. Net receipts for the first nine months of the current fiscal year totaled $47,688,000,000 compared to $48,245,000,000 a year before. But the gain in receipts during March this year was approximately $1,000,000,000 more than in March, 1953.

COMIC BOOKS

Senator Robert C. Hendrickson, chairman of the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, has started an investigation of "sadistic comic books and their impact upon adolescents." The committee, he says, is "vitally interested in evaluating the impact of horror and crime comics upon the young mind." The investigation will hold hearings in New York City because "the heart of the comic book industry" is in New York.

SURPLUS FARM CROPS

The problem of surplus farm crops, which has been plaguing Government officials for some time, is showing signs of spreading to livestock products. Stocks of wheat, corn and most other grains and cotton have reached record proportions, forcing the Government to resort to rigid production controls in an effort to keep supplies from getting out of hand. Poultry and dairy products are beginning to pile up.

BURIED IN SAND, REVIVED

Baltimore, Md. — The quick action of two unidentified workmen is credited by police with saving the life of Thomas Williams, 12, who was buried for an hour and a half in a sand bin of a paving company. One of the workmen began digging from the bottom of the bin and the other from the top. Firemen used two bottles of oxygen in reviving the unconscious child, who was taken to a hospital for treatment of suffocation and shock.

Sam's Answer

Have you ever wondered why some people are popular and why some are not? A person who is popular is said to be suitable to the public in general. Sam Smith was well liked and respected by all of his friends and associates at school and in his community. No one ever said anything against him, and he had received praise on frequent occasions.

When Sam was asked how he achieved his popularity, he said, "I always try to speak well of others. If I can't speak well of them, then I remain silent."

When Sam is with a group of his associates and he mentions those who are not present, it is their good points that he stresses. One finds many people who seem to follow the opposite policy. They are always on the outlook for faults in others. They are quick to criticize their associates, even good friends, when the latter are not present.

Such an attitude is harmful to all concerned. Unpleasant words about another usually get back to the person at whom they were directed. Naturally, hard feelings are created. One who habitually indulges in criticism is bound to lose the respect of those who overhear him.

There are times when criticism of another may be justified, but it should be voiced directly to the person whom it concerns. Then, if the criticism is just, it may be so recognized, and the criticized individual may take positive action to correct the flaws that are brought to his attention.

Sam's rule of never speaking harshly of others behind their backs is a good one to cultivate. This policy is bound to bring anyone increased popularity and respect among those with whom he associates.

Plan For The Future

Now that the check sheets are handed out to the students for next year, some very wise planning should be made. These check sheets are important and the subjects you take are important. Your parents must be consulted, and your teacher or principal should be consulted if you have a problem.

Most students do not realize the importance of the subjects they take. They think that they can get through school just loafing, but the subjects you take during high school form the foundation of your knowledge in college. If this foundation is strong, the better off you will be. The University of Texas has the following entrance requirements: 3 credits in English, 2 in mathematics, 2 from any three of the following groups: foreign language, natural science (vocational agriculture and homemaking are not accepted as natural science), or social studies, 2 credits additional from groups English, fine arts, foreign language, natural science, mathematics, and four credits additional from foregoing groups including vocational subjects.

If you are going to college, you should keep these requirements in mind when choosing your subjects. You should take the subjects that will best prepare you for your chosen vocation in life. Careful planning now will save you a lot of work later on.

Joe's Blows

Spring training in basketball ended Thursday, May 13, with the showing of the film of the Canyon-South Antonio State finals game of 1950. That about winds up the sporting activities around the high school this year. There isn't anyone working out under organized instruction after school now that we know about. Next year will be another year of athletics here at Canyon High and Joe wishes every one good luck.

Well, kiddies, ole Cal has been saving his coupons from Brannie Wannie breakfast food. You know what that is, don't you. It's the one thet doesn't snap, it doesn't crakkle, it doesn't pop. It just sits there and sops up milk. Well, I have my choice of several things I could get, and I want you kiddies to help me decide.

1. A genuine imitation plastic ring with 42 secret compartments and one very secret compartment. It is so secret that even the manufacturer can't find it.

2. A $25.00 space suit for only 3,000,000 coupons and $24.95 to cover handling and postage.

3. An "Authentic Dective" detecting set including a real glass magnifying glass, pencil shavings for finger prints, and a box of assorted clues.

4. A Junior G-man club member. I can get a membership card, and honest and for true tin G-man badge, and the right to play G-man from 4-6:30 on weekdays and from 9:30-11:30 a. m. and from 1:30-6:30 on week-ends.

5. A genuine Navajo Indian chicken feather headdress. It has 24 gleaming fluorescent pink chicken feathers trimmed with small lime green chicken feathers. It looks so much like the ancient Navajo headdress that you could hardly tell the difference if you placed them side by side.

6. A professional magicians book containing instructions telling how to make girls disappear when you are playing with mice, how to make a cherry pie disappear, and how to make yourself disappear when your mother calls. We are hoping to have the improved method of making teachers disappear.

7. A 133 piece set of Cottensworth silverware made of aluminum with two initials other than the U. S. N. that's already on them.

8. One gross of 1914 first grade spelling books complete with 12 oil cloth book covers and one paddle.

Well, kiddies, which would you take? I think I'll take the last one cause maybe the 1914 teacher is included in the deal.

Future Freshmen Tour High School

Getting acquainted with the high school teachers, facilities, and courses were the eighth grade students from W. T. Elementary school. Freshman orientation began at 9 o'clock on May 12 and 13.

Peggy Sheets and Ken Kuykendall accompanied the group from WT to the high school building. In the auditorium, Betty Glanton welcomed the group. Norris Samuelson and Marcus Robinson spoke on how to get the most out of high school. Miss Alice Payne, an English instructor, gave a short talk on opportunities and responsibilities as related to literature and the art of expressing thoughts.

After a short break Principal J. E. Miller told of the privileges as a citizen of CHS. Ray C. Wells, a math teacher, talked about high school mathematics and Mrs. Joe Findley, a science instructor, spoke on the importance of taking science in high school.

From 10:30 until 10:45 the visitors were served refreshments in the cafeteria and a question-answer period was held with Principal Miller in charge.

After another short free time, a tour was taken of the science laboratory, art room, library, typing room, third floor, and the halls of the first and second floors.

The boys were given instruction and information on vocational agriculture by T. L. Devin while the girls visited the homemaking department and Mrs. Clara B. Long talked with them on the importance of taking homemaking.

Sidney P. Burgess conducted a tour of the shop building for the boys. At 11:25 the freshmen met in the band room annex for a subject check sheet question period with Mr. Miller presiding.

A tour of the building has been an annual affair for the last few years, and is sponsored by the Student Faculty Congress.

Student council assistants for the orientation were Edward Hinders, Charlotte Crain, Lynn Atkinson, Tom Wilbanks, Rose Barron, and Florence Clement.

Congress has been asked for $2,500,000 for a nation-wide inquiry into reports of overpayment and fraud in unemployment compensation.

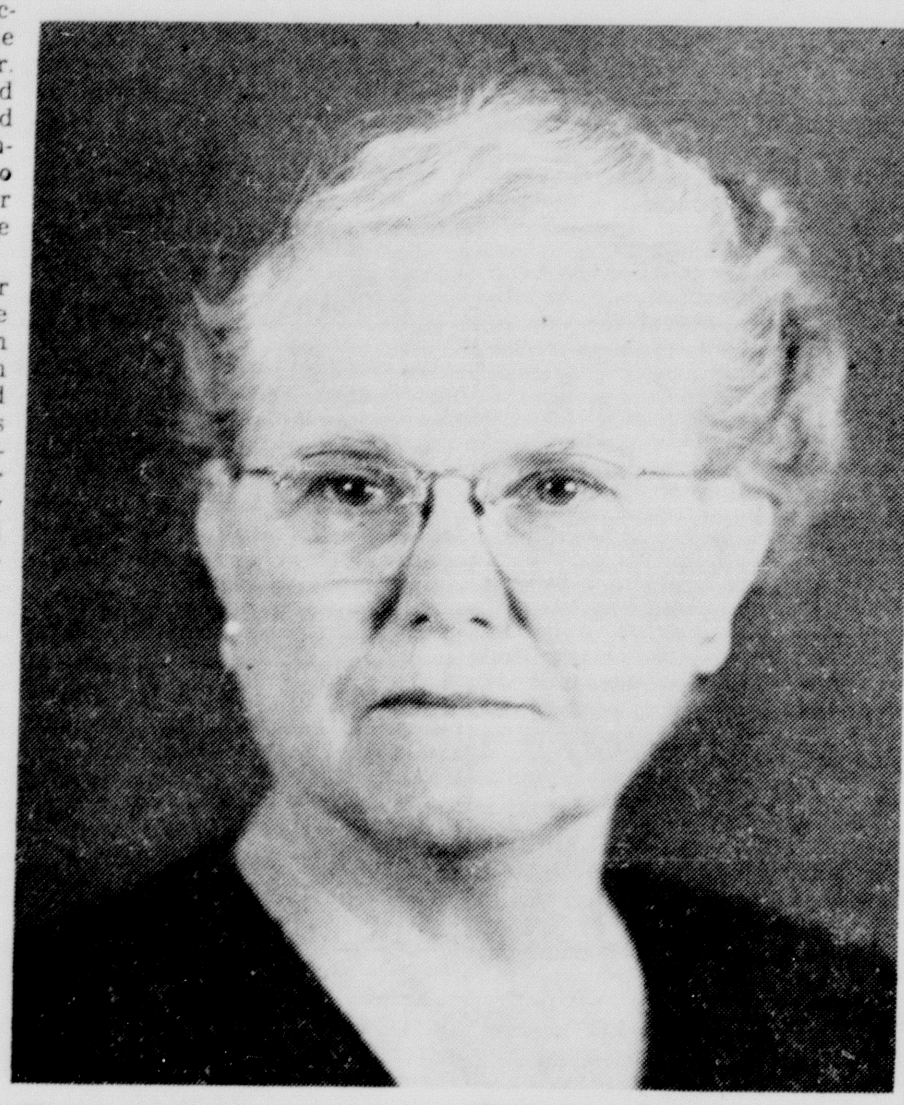
Fronabarger Serves 40 Years



This is a tribute to a lady! In 1914 Miss Elva Fronabarger began her teaching career in Canyon. After spending most of her life teaching she plans to retire this year. So be this issue of The Eagle's Tale dedicated to one who dedicated her life that the children might learn, Miss Elva Fronabarger.

What is the secret of a successful teacher? First we need a successful teacher, and we find the example in Miss Elva Fronabarger. The core of her success is found in her faith in God. How could she help but be an excellent teacher and administrator when she so often looks to the Master Teacher for guidance? This is a tribute to a Christian lady.

In 1934 Miss Elva Fronabarger became principal of Canyon Grade School. Before that she had been a teacher in the grade school in Canyon, in Borger High School, and at West Texas State College. This year she plans to retire. The picture speaks for itself as to her personal appearance, but you may wonder what a person who has had so many successful years of teaching would be like when you get to know her.

The keynote of her personality is her pleasant disposition. She is always cheerful and in good spirits. Her understanding and ability to get along with children and adults is amazing. She is always dependable both for her promptness and good taste. Her personality is such that she is never bothered with discipline problems.

Miss Fronabarger loves to help people solve their problem and she is never too busy to help nor is she ever lacking in a solution to problems. She does not take one person's opinion about a problem, but she studies the problem from all sides and forms her own opinion.

She enjoys music and her favorite radio diversion is the Monday night music programs.

Everyone has his idiosyncrasies and Miss Fronabarger is no exception. She has a huge collection of recipes and cookbooks, but she does not like to cook. She plans to start using her collection after her retirement.

Reading is another of her hobbies, and she is an excellent reader. Her ability to organize and express her thoughts well makes her book reviews interesting and informative.

At a recent meeting honoring Miss Fronabarger, several teachers were asked to mention what they thought to be Miss Fronabarger's outstanding characteristics. The first mentioned was the ability to laugh both with others and at herself. Her ability to fit in anywhere and lend spice to the discussion, her ability to give generously of her time, love, and money to all in real need, her ability to listen, to guide, and to inspire were mentioned.

One teacher appreciated her frankness and the tact with which she could say "no" without causing hard feelings. Some of the teachers appreciated her help in planning their work and making them feel at ease in the system. Others admired her ability to gain the love and confidence of children and her loyalty to her teachers.

"Mummy," said little Brian, "Tommy doesn't know how to swim because his mummy won't let him go near the water."

"Well, Tommy is a very good little boy."

"Yes," answered Brian, thoughtfully, "and he'll go to Heaven the first time he falls in."

EVERY FISHERS' DESIRE

A correspondent asks if we can locate for him a verse, entitled "The Angler's Prayer." He probably means this:

Oh, Lord, pray suffer me to catch
A fish so large that I
When telling of it afterwards
Will have no need to lie.

MANEUVERS

The Armed Forces of the nation are engaged in maneuvers which started recently in the Carolinas. New weapons — atomic cannon, guided missiles, rockets, etc. — are being used and tested. Involved are 100,000 army and air men.

BARE MIDRIFFS OUTLAWED?

White Plains, N. Y. — Under a proposed new city ordinance, clothing that leaves the thighs or midriff exposed would be banned for any person over 12 years of age in streets, parks or other public places. Such clothing includes shorts, halters, swim suits or any apparel which fails to cover the body from shoulders to a point midway between hips and knees — sunbacks excepted. St. Louis, Mo. — Until recently Mr. and Mrs. John Driscoll lived in a two-room house with 34 dogs. Why fine car buyers are swinging to Ford

Worth more when you buy it . . .
Worth more when you sell it!

A small price tag buys them one of America's truly fine cars. And here's how:

In the new '54 Ford, you get the same modern type of overhead-valve engine . . . the same road-hugging ride . . . the careful interior decorating . . . the same quality construction . . . and the same optional* power assists you'd expect to find in cars costing hundreds of dollars more. So why pay more? This is the question smart car buyers are asking themselves. And that is why you'll often find two Fords proudly parked in driveways where there used to be but one costly car!

Take power: Only Ford, among all low-priced cars, offers you a Y-block V-8 engine. Only Ford, in its field, offers an I-block Six. And both of these new deep-block engines are the most modern in the industry . . . with overhead valves, low-friction design, high-turbulence combustion chambers, and deep-block construction.

Take ride: Ford's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension is the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years. Your Ford not only steers easier, but will keep that "new car feel" far longer. And so many points of wear have been eliminated you have only 4 lubrication points in the entire front suspension system.

Take power assists*: Fordomatic Drive is the only "automatic" in its field to combine the smoothness of a fluid torque converter and the "Go" of an automatic intermediate gear. And you can have Ford Master-Guide Power Steering, Swift Sure Power Brakes, power lifts on all four side windows and a 4-Way Power Seat.

Take a Test Drive . . . and you'll want to drive it home! FORD

Since Canyon has no parks for the children in which to play, why can't certain side streets be blocked off during some hours of the day and let the children play there. They could be left open for those who live on the block but barred for all other traffic. No one would mind this little inconvenience and it would give the children a safe place to ride bicycles, romp and play.

Miss Elizabeth Cox who lives at 1806 7th Ave. did much to help the situation in her neighborhood when she very generously placed the vacant lot she owns to the west of her home, over to the city to be used as a playground for the children, a most thoughtful and considerate act on her part.

Lovely Margaret Harper. She runs her household efficiently, rears her two children beautifully, entertains graciously, teaches music and with all this finds time to bake delicious cookies which she takes to friends who are ill.

One of her favorite recipes is: ½ cup butter or Spry, 1 cup sugar, 1 whole egg or 2 egg yolks, 2 tablespoons milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 ts. Baking Powder, 1¾ cups flour, ½ ts. vanilla, ⅓ cup dry cocoa or 2 squares melted chocolate. Put in Mix Master and mix well, roll in small balls and place on greased cookie sheet, makes about fifty. Bake ten minutes in 325 degree oven.

Pollyanna B. Hughes, wife of Jack Hughes, curator of Paleontology at the Panhandle-Plains Museum, mother of two small children, is rapidly coming to the front as a writer. Her recent article: "Palo Duro Canyon State park offers scenic and recreational respite for the prairie traveler," was published in the July issue of Your Car Magazine, now on the stands. It is well written, interesting and traces the geological, paleontogical and archaeological stories found within the canyon. Since coming to Canyon Pollyanna has done most of her writing about the Panhandle, publishing many interesting articles in various magazines, about the Panhandle. A most delightful person to know.

The late Fulton Oursler's story of the life of Christ has sold more than 3,300,000 copies in the United States and has been translated into 12 foreign languages.

Producer Darryl F. Zanuck announced that his studio, 20th Century-Fox, has purchased the story for a cumulative price of two million dollars.

Mrs. R. A. Terrill brought this delicious cookie recipe back with her when she returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. M. Jay Reams, who lives in Summerset, Penn. 1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup Crisco and butter, 1 egg, ⅛ ts salt, ½ cup sour cream, 1 ts vanilla, ¼ ts soda, 2 squares chocolate, 1½ cups flour, ½ cup nuts.

Cream sugar and Crisco, add salt, unbeaten egg, melted chocolate, sour cream, soda, nuts, flour. Drop small amounts on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 15 minutes in 350 oven. Makes 60 cookies.

Icing to be put on while cookies are hot. 1 egg beaten, 1¾ cup powdered sugar, 1½ squares melted chocolate, 1 Ts melted butter, 1 ts vanilla. Keep this warm to spread on cookies.

I'd rather face the Atom Bomb
And have no power to stop it,
Than have a wreck, and break
my neck,
Long years before they drop it.

This is the season when good neighborliness is being revived. These warm, pleasant days call gardeners to their yards to work, visit, compare and exchange flowers and advice on gardening. This makes for better spirits, better fellowship and better health.

Mrs. Ray Campbell has a beautiful bed of red peonies, and generously shares these lovely blooms with friends.

What won't they think of next! Stephen F. Austin State College at Nacogdoches, held its fifth annual Forestry Field Day May 8 and one of the contests was of all things, tobacco spitting. Everyone who could chew and spit was asked to enter.

The recent rain makes cultivation of all plants necessary. Keep the soil stirred to kill weeds and to allow the plants to "breath."

Spray and dust always after rain. insects rush out of their hiding places looking for tender foliage to devour. Do not give them time to ruin healthy growing flowers and vegetables.

Humans are the same everywhere. Basically speaking they seek power, they get it, they use it, abuse it, then lose it. A. K. Baracat.

There are three necessary traits for success: industry, interest and intelligence.

"Death takes little bites of me," said a woman patient to her doctor. Medicine's answer to that is—don't lie down and let him nibble. Be up and doing, what you can, as long as you can and when you can.

"Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God.

"He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love." —1 John 4: 7-8.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

During war American people expect great waste.

But American people have never before been confronted with necessity of maintaining large military establishment without hostilities. Today, about 60% of taxes go for military security.

C.W. Harder

But the question is being asked; how much of this money is actually going for combat efficiency; how much to support armed forces side operations which could be more efficiently handled by trained businessmen?

* * *

The military profession does not require business acumen. Military science is as far apart from business as medical practice is from an accountant's work.

* * *

The other day the U. S. General Accounting Office had a session with a Congressional sub committee.

* * *

The GAO presented a long list of alleged examples of waste due to mismanagement.

* * *

For example, one army post commissary was selling 20 ounce loaves of bread from the Army bakery for six cents. This just about covered the ingredient cost with no allowance made for wages of civilian workers, officers in charge, or cost of the bakery quarters or equipment.

* * *

In a study of 52 army commissaries, ¼ of 208 in continental U. S., the General Accounting Office found that these 52 stores did a $49½ million business in 1952, and that only 8% of the 202,135 persons authorized to use these commissaries lived on the respective army posts. In addition, GAO found they occupied 900,000 square feet of government space, and that approximately $5½ million in wages to 2,268 employees, of which 1,185 were military personnel, came out of appropriated funds.

* * *

At the Army Jeffersonville Depot GAO found $14 million worth of Quartermaster property largely household and office furniture, deteriorating in the open at the rate of $½ million per month.

* * *

At the Columbus Depot 523 unused warehouse tractors costing $479,999 were declared salvage on July 20, 1950 and given away. In 1949 and on June 30, 1950 the army bought 103 new tractors at a $244,299.41 cost. In 1951 hundreds of tractors were bought.

* * *

In wartime 1952 with 2,867,762 enlisted men the army had 263,137 officers, or a ratio of 14.1 enlisted men per officer including flying officers. In 1953 ratio was 10.5 to 1 even with flying officers moved from army to air force.

* * *

So a belief arises that with the necessity for big standing military establishment it is necessary to operate it on business basis.

* * *

Unfortunately, at present General Accounting Office has little power to stop waste, before it happens; it can only find where the waste has been. Thus there is quite a bit of sentiment to keep the military men out on tactical problems where they belong, and turn over all business matters affecting the armed forces to qualified businessmen.

* * *

Many old timers in Washington recall the administration of Theodore Roosevelt who used to require army officers to accompany him on gruelling hikes and horseback rides to remove the fat. Now drastic measures are required to remove the financial fat from defense.

FOREIGN AID

United States aid to foreign nations hit a record peak of nearly $6,500,000,000 last year but was tapering off at the year's end, according to the Commerce Department. Military aid increased, while economic aid decreased. There was an increase in offshore procurement—U. S. purchases of military supplies for itself or allies from foreign factories.

CARRIER REMODELING

The U. S. S. Franklin D. Roosevelt, 45,000-ton aircraft carrier, from which the first jet aircraft were launched in U. S. Navy history, has been decommissioned for remodeling to handle faster and heavier jet planes. The carrier will be laid up for two years at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard. The modernization job will cost an estimated $40,000,000 — 40 per cent of the original cost of the vessel.

PAYS THE 16TH TIME

Wheeling, W. Va. — Police Clerk William Thomas' memory clicked when a Pittsburgh driver was talking his way out of paying a $1 traffic fine by declaring that a parking meter was broken and wouldn't take his nickel. Thomas glanced at the license number on the ticket as the man walked away, leafed through his files to find 16 old tickets bearing the same number. The red-faced visitor paid $16 in back fines.

HUNGRY RIDER

Fort Wayne, Ind. — Although a Tennessee hitchhiker spent 28 hours locked in a truck trailer loaded with canned goods, he was almost starved when the driver, John Dolan, 33, hearing his cries as he checked the tires on the trailer, let him out. The young man without a can opener was Carl Henley, 24, of Tracy City, Tenn.
